

TIER SHEET — our ranking, arranged by tier

One column per position, one row per tier, best first inside each cell. The green number is VOR (points above a replacement starter). The grey ~n is the pick he is expected to go at and b is his bye. Any tier with more than eight names is broken into BY YOUR PICK n blocks — everyone in a block is expected to be gone by that turn of yours. Your picks: 8 · 17 · 32 · 41 · 56 · 65 · 80 · 89 · 104 · 113 · 128 · 137 · 152 · 161. Tiers are the board's own (doc 134), imported — not recomputed here.

How to use it: find the tier you are picking in, count how many names in it have a ~n below your next pick. If none do, the tier breaks before you come back and the choice is now. If several do, you can take the other position.

AVOID hurt or unavailable DISC injury flag BUY both analyst panels ahead of ADP OPEN unsettled backfield 3/3 / 1/3 RB composite (doc 191: target share, 13+ games, NFL rounds 1-3 — +12.2 pts per signal) 9g WR/TE games played in 2025 — darker under 10. This is the ONLY receiver signal that measures: +1.7 points per game (p=0.043, n=390). doc 193 tested the red-zone idea on five seasons of play-by-play and it came back NULL. 88% snaps / 40% snaps = 2025 snap share, drawn only at the top and bottom quartiles (doc 197: +0.79 pts of beat per point of share, p<0.0001 — the only receiver signal that survives the games control). Red = he was not on the field.
